This decision of the Supreme Court was rendered under the bankruptcy act, the intention being to place all creditors within the same class on a perfectly equal footing. It was held that payments within the four months prior to going into bankruptev virtually made preferred creditors of those receiving sums in full so soon before others might be forced to accept only a percentage of the amounts due them. It is not com-pulsory under the law to refund the money. But no further claim against the bankrup company can be allowed until this is done.

In the Gaylord-Blessing case many creditors who have proved only small claims before Referee Walter D. Coles received large fore Referee Walter D. Coles received targe payments within the four months prior to bankruptcy proceedings. It is considered likely that such parties will not refund the large amounts, preferring to lose their claims in bankruptcy to refunding large amounts which would go into the assets of the firm to be divided among the creditors according to their claims. How great will be the effect of the action of the trustee cannot be known until after the ten days in which the creditors are allowed to answer. But it is considered certain that the total of liabilities will be decreased by many thousand dollars.

Joseph Leier and others, children of John Michael Leier, filed suit yesterday against Court Will Meet on Monday and William E. Pisse to require him to distri-bute $4,000 under the will of Wendelin Leler, Adjourn Until After Presiof which Mr. Fisse is executor. The plain dent's Funeral.

of which Mr. Fisse is executor. The plaintiffs claim they are entitled to the money. Wendelin Leier, in his will, ordered his real estate to be sold and two-thirds of the proceeds at the death of his wife, Maria, to his brother, John, or his heirs, it stated. Leier died April 18, 1898, and the $4,000 claimed is the two-thirds of the proceeds of the sale of the real estate. Mr. Fisse says John Michael Leier died before the legacy became due, and he was about to pay the money to his heirs when the administrator of his estate claimed the money should be paid to him. All efforts having failed to adjust the matter, Fisse states he had no choice except to submit to a suit brought by one or the other side. Washington, Sept. 14.-Admiral Dewey came to the city to-day from his country home and consulted with Captain Lemly, the Judge Advocate of the Schley Court of Inquiry, respecting the effect of the President's death on the court's proceedings.

While no announcement has yet bee made, it is understood that the court will meet Monday at the Navy Yard, in accordance with the call issued by Admiral Dewey, and that it will adjourn immediately until the day after the funeral of President McKinley as a mark of respect to his memory. Counsel for Rear Admiral Schley express themselves as satisfied with Rear Admira Francis M. Ramsey as a member of the court in the place of Rear Admiral Howi-

No summons has been issued by Judge Advocate Lemiy for Rear Admiral Samp-son, and, unless something unforeseen oc-curs later on in the case, he will not call Admiral Sampson to Washington on his own initiative.

Kennard Will Move.

The J. Kennard & Son Carpet Company will occupy their new store at the southwest corner of Fourth and Washington avenue the 1st of October. When the Kennard Carpet Company moved from their old Broadway stand to their present quarters on Fourth street, a special sale was held with great success, and many people embraced the opportunity to furnish their homes with carpets, rugs, curtains, portieres, draperies, etc. The announcement made in the advertising columns of to-day's Republic that another Kennard removal sale will begin to-morrow morning will prove interesting to housekeepers and homeowners. It has been definitely decided that many of the lines on exhibition in the present quarters of the J. Kennard Carpet Company on Fourth street will not be moved. Every article in their entire stock has been reduced and some special lines of an exceedingly attractive character have been marked as low as half price. The opportunity offered buyers is of an extraordinary character. Captain Lemly has issued very few summonses so far, and some of those already issued have been withdrawn, and, in addi-tion, he does not regard the testimony of Admiral Sampson as necessary in this case. Admiral Schley's counsel, however care to call Admiral Sampson, the Judge Advocate will issue the summons, and his physical and mental condition will determine the character of his response,
